>> If you're looking for something to do outside of the city on Saturday, you can venture up to Kensington, Maryland to the Adah Rose Gallery to check out the opening of the new exhibit Without Proof. Open Ended, featuring the work of Thierry Guillemain and Amanda Horowitz. Guillemain draws on his inner emotional state and transfers it onto the canvas. Inspired by the improvisational aspects as well as the discipline of jazz music, he creates abstract blends of color and form. Horowitz combines various mediums in her work by painting on glass and the photographing the work with different backgrounds. 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.
